th the chip architecture. Which would be preferable if the operating frequency was equal?

Mr. Simplicity is getting antsy for more horses for the Cubase machine.

;o)I had some trouble with mine with one pair of SATA ports not working and had to send it back, which took two attempts, and the turnaround per attempt was ten days, so I've only just got a new one last week and gotten back on it.

That said, it seems a very nice board. One thing I have noticed is that BIOS versions after version 6 don't have nearly as much IRQ control. They to have irradiated the whole IRQ menu... plus something in my setup isn't happy with those versions and my machine won't even boot mostly with those versions (7-9). Not sure if it's the EDS cards or what.

On BIOS V6 though she steams along. The only time it's hung at all is when I was fiddling with drive setups in the computer management area of control panel (partition management) and had an explorer window open with one of the drives I was fiddling with, which I can understand it not being happy about.

I've had a world of hurt getting to where I am and it's not over yet, but I think the board itself is good. I think once I get it working nicely I'll be on a good thing. I'm very interested on how you go with later firmwares (7+) and EDS cards if you try it.

Cheers,
Kim.

Interesting if he gets it going though.
Can you imagine the equivalent amount of crashes as there are on the road...Mollers falling out of the sky all over the place....

Yes, but I'd still need a boot manager. I was going to do 3 per drive, but had trouble with that too, so switched to an attempt at 6 on the one drive... but that hasn't brought me joy yet.

Erlilo's program may work yet though if I can work out how to use it properly.

Kim.

I think the 4033's are great mics, although I no longer have my pair - awhile ago I got a Kiwi instead that I found on sale, and I'm waiting to find another one (at something less than street price), and that will then be my main LDC pair.

NeilAT4033 is my best female mic !
I have never had any better results using other mic on females with great timbre.
I have done though a minor mod on this mic.
I have bypassed output electrolytic cap (a ver good one anyway) with MIT 0.1 polyester cap.
Great great detail....

Dimitrios

you must use Bootit's own system as far as I can understand, but with 4 you will be compatible with the normal Fdisk standard. I have it but havn't tested it, so I can't say how it workes at all.
