I got my Paris rig up and running on an XP Media Center computer (ASUS = A8M2N-LA, Athlon 64 3500+, 200GB, 512MB, Compaq SR2032X). I copied a = project over to the new computer and everything seemed fine. After that =

I ripped some trax off an accompaniment CD to try and record something = and make sure everything worked ok. I ripped them using Sound Forge 7.0 = (just like I always did on my other computer) and I made sure the "save = metadata with file" button was uncheck because I think I remember that = causing me some problems in the past. Then when I try to import the = ripped music into Paris I get an error. Then if you look in my record = director there will be 2 .paf files (even if I set it to default to = ..wav). If I try to import these into Paris you can hear the files but = Paris thinks they are 30 minutes long each. This would not be that big = of a deal but I want it working right.

Anyone have any ideas?

Thanks,

-----=_NextPart_000_000C_01C73FE7.AF21ED60--I may be taking a long break from the theatre (certain people down there are sucking all the fun out of it....) and expanding our acoustic concert series into other venues.

I'd like to make it into a mobile rig that would fit into no more than two rack cases - cpu, MEC, two lcd's, keyboard & mouse.

Hacking the motherboard into a rackmount ATX case is a huge PITA.

Or, I could use the rack case I already have, throw an AMD board and Athlon
