s world. MS once again, is currently dangling MS Office over Apples head. They are F...ing with Apple on XML compatibility. They are stalling Apple just like they did in 1997, and many other times in the past. I'm sure Apple is working on an Office suite.

The real kicker would be if Apple came out with an Office suite of software for PC and Mac that blew away MS Office, then gave it away for free. That would be a play right out of Microsoft's kill Netscape play book. Then Apple made it possible to run any PC software on Mac OSX without Windows. The last nail would be licensing a PC version of there OS to everybody and selling it retail. The latter is not likely to happen.

Since I'm talking in fantasy-land, I'd like to see Apple buy SUN, and charge MS through the nose to license JAVA. It was once rumored, but that's not going to happen now either.

Oracle developed over 40 enterprise software programs for the Mac in the past. I know it would be getting in to bed with the devil, but I like to see Apple drop th to take on MS on the enterprise front. Not likely to ever happen.

Apple is now Apple Inc., a consumer products company. I think there happy being number 2 and innovating new products. I think they would rather try to get along with MS than to wage war with them.

As far as Jobs and Gates working together, I think Jobs is disgusted with MS copying the look and feel of Mac OS again. I highly doubt that Jobs would let Gates anywhere near anything Apple is working on.

I think Gates status with MS is just a formality and away to avoid any culpability. I believe he is still fully in control. You know what they say, Once a weasel always a weasel.

Chris I'm not trying to offend you, I realize you think highly of Gates, I just don't.
